By the way: The book

"Der Produktmanager und das blaue Meer"

("The product manager and the blue sea" German language only) by our Managing Director Robert Wachendorff is hot off the press - he is very proud of that.

In this book, he presents an innovative and practice-orientated approach for more successful product innovations.

Traditional methods are supplemented by agile approaches, which play a decisive role in the current market environment. Readers will find helpful tips, methods and tools that they can apply directly.

The book is published by Springer Verlag and is now available in German bookshops, from Amazon or directly from Springer Verlag, as a download or softcover book.

The SPS trade fair will therefore also provide an opportunity to discuss the topic of product management – Robert Wachendorff will be on site on all three days of the fair.

If you have any questions

Our sales team will also be happy to help you outside of trade fair hours. Give us a call or send us an e-mail.
